The Mediorite

“Son of God, Child of Mary, born in the stable at Bethlehem, be born again in our hearts that through us the world may know
the wonder of your love. Amen”

(New Zealand BCP. p. 556)

Blessings to all the Mediorites as we celebrate the miracle of Emmanuel, God with us. May you have a wonderful Christmas, a joyous New Year and an Epiphany filled with light and peace.

LABYRINTH WORKSHOP

Please mark your calendars for an event Saturday, February 20, 2010. Dr. Kay Mutert, a certified Veriditas Advanced Facilitator, will come to Mediator for a one day Labyrinth Workshop. If you would like to assist with this day long event, please call Barbara Thomas at 601-917-3669. This workshop is intended for those who want a ‘refresher’ on the Labyrinth, and those new to walking and using the Labyrinth as a meditation tool.

Here is information on Kay and her work.

Kay is a member of the Veriditas Council and a certified Veriditas Advanced Facilitator, now serving as Veriditas' USA Southeast Regional Representative. Her current business is called "DaySpring - a source of creative expression and renewal of spirit". She uses her experience as musician, minister, and teacher in working with groups and individuals from all arenas of life, inviting them to discover the possibilities of the labyrinth in the journey to experience a reconnection with the sacredness of life. She has worked with labyrinths for the past 12 years. Kay's focus is on helping others find ways for renewal of mind, body, spirit and creative energy, through retreats, workshops and sacred events. Kay served congregations in the United Methodist Church and the British Methodist Church. Before that she worked as a music educator and musician in Florida and Alabama. She is a conductor, composer and pianist, wanting to let her love for the spirit of music and movement speak to the hearts of others. Her work has included compositions and concerts for those affected by cancer and AIDS.

Kay has served as musician and program presenter at Iona Abbey, and has been an associate of the international ecumenical Iona Community based in Scotland. She offers workshops and worship experiences utilizing the resources of Iona, Taize and global music.

Kay holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Music Education from Mississippi State University, graduating 1st in her class, Master of Arts in Vocal Music Education from University of South Florida, where she served as a teaching assistant, Doctor of Education in Secondary Music Education from University of Alabama, where she served as teaching assistant and then faculty/staff member, and Master of Divinity from Candler School of Theology, as a Woodruff Scholar.
